Dear Sir,

I am interested in obtaining a list of subversive organizations and any that you consider questionable.

It seems that either by mail or door-to-door we get literature, (this is especially during election time) from all sorts of groups that all claim to be good Americans. There have been times when I've doubted it very much.

It has gotten to the point where a person wonders who is and who is not legitimate. Even if you ask, you can't be sure they're going to tell you who they really represent.

I have also heard, but don't really know; that the John Birch Society has front organizations. Could you tell me your feeling of the Birch Society & if they do have fronts & also what they are. Have they been investigated?

I feel any organizations that has to have fronts aren't honestly representing themselves to begin with.

Thank you for any information you can give me

Sincerely,

Dear Gil:

[redacted] "Mirage." [redacted]
[redacted] If it's a successful picture it will be because of Peck's drawing power at the box office. It's 'gimmicky' otherwise, and really has no great strength.

Please note the following: [redacted] has a new 5 picture contract with Universal, and his "Father Goose" opened at New York's Radio City Music Hall for Christmas, starring Cary Grant. [redacted] [redacted] As always, they cite many age-old and quite untrue reasons why he's an SOB, but the "Socialists" are all unanimous that he is a rat.

Characteristically enough, at the same time they court him to do their pictures. A Cary Grant (or Gregory Peck) picture brings in the money. Peck is an ardent Democrat with whom they want to identify because of the prestige of such identification.

They are now quite verbal in referring to themselves as "Socialists." They try very hard to make you believe that "Socialists" are "Humanists" who would see to it that the "people" ran the railroads and the utilities, etc. They separate themselves from the Communists only with generalized statements. Lest you think they're against Communism, however, they will quickly hedge by saying they've "never met a violent Communist," and that "some of the finest people they've ever met are Communists."

[redacted] New York address is [redacted] NYC 10021. It's a penthouse type place, presently sparsely furnished, which we saw while shooting in New York. [redacted] is working on a TV series called "Ghost Breakers," and is also doing something or another for [redacted] as concerns a New York stage show. He is the "fair haired boy" at Universal because his (and Cary Grant's) pictures have made a lot of money.

Ed Dmytryk, the director of "Mirage," (and of countless other BIG pictures - a very wealthy man), freely talks about his being jailed as a Communist years ago. He claims he was a member about 6 months and that he recanted and became a "friendly witness" later on, and now never sees any of the Communists he used to know. He is an argumentative agnostic who ridicules belief in God. He impresses on you that God-belief has gone out of style, so has sentiment, marriage and love, and such nonsense is behind the times. [redacted]

Note please the recurring hypocrisy. Much talk during this picture was about the great boon it was to UNICEF to have the John Birch society against them. None of the "socialist" group sent out UNICEF Christmas cards except one. [redacted] as well were quite religious in tone, and made in West Germany, at that, a people that [redacted] detests.

It's not news to you that they are striving for an air of respectability. It is a thin veneer. [redacted]
[redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

Two examples -

1. A favorite ploy is to downgrade anything American. [redacted] was difficult to picture such a graceful people doing such inhuman things during WWII, Dmytryk quickly interrupted to tell that it was common knowledge that no nation in history was ever as cruel in war as we were, that we slaughtered thousands of Japanese, that the real truth has never come out about our tortures which made ancient Chinese tortures seem like child's play, and that he personally knew a young girl who was chased four times up and down a wheat field by an American pilot in a plane simply so that he could shoot her with a fifty-caliber machine gun and leave her to die.

b6
b7D

2. During the recent elections, they were all for the Democrats....as the lesser of two evils. Their feelings actually were that either candidate was no better than the other, but that Johnson would cause them less grief than Goldwater. They felt Johnson was a dolt. [redacted] the commercial photographer who has now been signed as a "Producer" (sic!) by Universal, voted by absentee ballot and cast his vote for Charles DeGaulle. As with the "God" theme, they want you to buy the "fact" that America is actually Socialist now and that our two party system doesn't exist.

b6

I believe the following, and my beliefs are based not upon any one thing but rather on months of observation and hearing small bits of their aims being dropped in one conversation or another:

1. They want to make "bad" pictures which make money. It's not incongruous at all. They want American prestige to suffer by being able to point at foreign films and say, "Hollywood can't make them like that." They believe, as I firmly do, that there is no medium of influence on the world anywhere near as powerful as the film. Thus, they'll make bad American pictures ("Mirage?") which make money (Gregory Peck) for them.

2. In any picture they make, you will not find a non-"socialist" in a sympathetic role. They are creating "Images" (they feel that George Murphy was elected because of the 'good guy' image he created in countless movies years ago), and if you happen to see Ronald Reagan in a Universal movie soon (his last one was "The Killers") don't expect to see him as anything but a terrible heel. You can expect to see [redacted] in the future as a benevolent old fuddy-dud, and the same holds true for recent assignments of Howard DaSilva and Will Geer. I believe this very strongly and am sure I'm right.

3. They will continue to tell the outrageous lie, sometimes so stunning you are too taken back to reply. They tell the lie about anyone who is not committed to them, and their greatest weapon is the "behind the back" statement. "[redacted] is a religious fanatic and a reactionary," and "John Wayne-----" (fill in your own epithet). After having ruined Adolphe Menjou as being 'forgetful,' it's painful to hear them now claim "Menjou was wonderful...he not only could tell you his lines in the picture he was doing, but he could remember lines from pictures he'd done years before." Menjou can't hurt them now.

4. They will make a great many "violent" movies, in keeping with trying to show America as a nation of sadists and brutes and sex fiends. [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

None of the above applies to the working members of the "crew" on "Mirage." As in so many other areas, the "socialists" are really a small group --- Dmytryk, the director; [redacted] the writer; [redacted] the still photographer; and perhaps the producer [redacted] --- but they are very militant, and tireless at promoting each other. b6 b7C

[redacted]

This is the season I feel is the closest we get to "goodness." More than anything else I fault them for a lack of that.

My very best wishes for the New Year.

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted]

P.S. - [redacted] has a 5 picture contract at Universal and has just been assigned as his first one a story called [redacted] written by [redacted] will also do the screenplay -
Again, best wishes!

Information from a confidential and reliable source indicates that the above organization is presently engaged in a survey of various JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY Chapter Leaders in the Southern California Area. Appointments are made with the Chapter leaders and an interviewer (a woman) comes to the house and asks questions similar to "What do you think of Communism?", "Do you think there is a large percentage of Jews, Negroes, etc., that are members of the Communist Party?", "What do you think of the Supreme Court decisions re Communists, etc?", "What do you think of the John Birch Society?"

The question period is supposed to last for one hour and 15 minutes, however, it has on occasions lasted for three hours.

[REDACTED] the organization, was asked by letter what the survey was for and he replied that it was for the University of California in a study they are making.

Birch member in Hemet school race

By FRANK ADAMS
Daily Enterprise Staff Writer

HEMET — The upcoming Hemet school board race will have a large number of candidates and already has definite political overtones.

One of the candidates is a local leader in the ultra-conservative John Birch Society, and two others, who have yet to file, are political conservatives.

FIVE candidates have filed for three seats on the common boards of the Hemet elementary and high school districts and four others have indicated they will be candidates.

School officials say that if the four file before the March 5, deadline, the nine will be the greatest number of candidates ever to run in a single election here.

Elections for the two Hemet boards, and for boards of the Alamos and Cottonwood school districts, will be consolidated with a unification election for the four districts and election of a unified district board. The elections will be held April 20.

INCUMBENTS who have filed as candidates for re-election are Donald G. Currie, board president, and Mrs. Verna Loomis. The third incumbent, Noble Allert, said yesterday he definitely plans to file.

Filed against the incumbents are Wayne A. Wilcox, Hemet real estate broker and a chapter leader of the John Birch Society here; G. Myrll Tibbitts, president of the Hemet-San Jacinto Board of Realtors and a bishop in the Church of Latter-Day Saints, and Paul R. Ray, retired Marine Corps sergeant now working for the Federal Aviation Agency at March Air Force Base.

Dr. David Chrisman, optometrist; Dr. Robert Wilcox, podiatrist, and Charles Pendleton, Hemet attorney, have all announced their intention to file.

ALL FILED and announced candidates for the local boards are also candidates for the board of a unified district to be voted on at the same time. In addition, local incumbents Edward Amschel and John R. Gorham and Alec A. Borel, clerk of the board at Alamos School District, are candidates for the unified district board.

No one has yet filed for expiring seats on the Alamos and Cottonwood boards, according to the Riverside County Elections Department.

Wilcox said he wanted his membership in the Birch Society known from the beginning so that it would not appear that he was making an effort to conceal the affiliation.

HE SAID the only connection between his Birch membership and his candidacy is that the Society does encourage members to take an active part in community affairs.

There has already been talk that Wilcox and Chrisman — and possibly Pendleton — will run as a team, but this has been denied by the trio.

Chrisman and Pendleton have been generally identified in the community as political conservatives, but they both say they are not members of the Birch Society.

Pendleton said he hopes that politics as such can be kept out of the campaign and also out of the service of winning candidates.

Borel's filing was a reversal of an earlier statement that he planned to stay out of the race and to support Mrs. Esther Trunnell, clerk of the Cottonwood board for the seat for unified district trustee area two.

MRS. TRUNNELL could not be reached for comment yesterday. Hemet trustees approved her employment as a substitute teacher at Alessandro Elementary School for the balance of the school year Monday and for this reason, she may have decided not to run for the unified district board.

Bircher Blasts UN as 'Red'

Publicity Director Says World Body Helps Conspiracy

By DOUG BROWNING
LOBO Political Editor

Contending that the United Nations is an instrument of international Communism, John Birch Society publicity director said yesterday that the UN is leading this country toward a one-world socialist government.

John Rousselot, former Congressman from California's 25th (Los Angeles) district, spoke to some 300 people in the Union Ballroom.

Rousselot said the John Birch Society's position on the United Nations was based on three premises—first, that, according to Rousselot, the UN received its impetus and was basically conceived by known Communists as an agency to further a one-world socialist government.

Red Connections Cited

In defense of this premise, Rousselot read a list of 16 names which he said comprised a committee appointed by the United States State Department to make plans for a world organization after World War II.

Of the 16, Rousselot said all but one were proven Communists. (The one exception was Dean Acheson). He gave no proof of this charge, nor for other similar charges.

Rousselot said the Bircher's second premise is that most, if not all, key positions in the administrative branch of the UN are held by Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Says Effectiveness Hurt

Rousselot said a Soviet has always held the post of Under Secretary General for Political and Military Affairs. "Everytime a crucial decision has been made on stopping Communist aggression by UN peace-keeping forces, a Communist has always vetoed such action," Rousselot commented.

The third premise, according to Rousselot, is that the UN has been grossly misused by the international Communist conspiracy. In support of this premise, Rousselot said that the UN has been generally ineffective in thwarting the Communists, giving as an example the UN peace-keeping mission in the Korean War.

Instances Cited

He said the UN refused aid to the Hungarian rebels in 1956, but showed no such qualms about helping Patrice Lumumba, termed by Rousselot as a known Communist, in the Congo crisis of 1961.

Following his short speech, Rousselot opened the floor to questions from the audience. One question asked what the John Birch Society proposed as an alternative if it was so opposed to the UN. In reply, Rousselot said he would favor a council of free nations, thus excluding Russia and other Communist countries.

Politics Blamed for Violence at Newbury Park

NEWBURY PARK (AP) — Two horses were shot and two cars burned in a burst of violence that deputy sheriffs say may have political overtones.

The horses were those of industrialist Frank Talley, owner of the Talley Corp. here and husband of a John Birch Society member, while the cars were those of two Talley employees.

Deputies said the horses were found early Friday—one dead with a single bullet wound through the rib cage, the other not seriously hurt.

The cars were burned later in the day, at the Talley Corp. parking lot. One, owned by John Toomey of Newbury Park, apparently was ignited by gasoline, deputies said. The other car, owned by Harlan Wilson of nearby Thousand Oaks, apparently was set afire by igniting Birch Society literature on the back seat, officers said.

Mrs. Talley said Saturday that the incidents may have been triggered by local news reports that she will receive Birth Society founder and leader Robert Welch as a house guest March 13-14 for a society seminar.

POLITICAL OVERTONES?*Horse Shootings, Auto Fires Probed

Political overtones are suspected in the burning of two cars and shooting of two horses in the Newbury Park area yesterday.

The horses belonged to conservative Frank Talley, owner of the Talley Corporation industrial plant at Newbury Park. The cars, parked on the Talley Corporation lot, belonged to two of his employees—one of whom is a member of the John Birch Society.

And Mrs. Talley is expecting Birch leader Robert Welch as a guest at her Hidden Valley ranch for a seminar March 13 and 14. She is a Birch Society member.

She said there "could be" a connection between the incidents and her political activities.

A six-year-old gelding worth $750 was found dead on their ranch yesterday, a bullet hole in its rib cage. Another horse had been wounded in the hind quarters.

Yesterday afternoon, the automobiles of two employees—Harlan E. Wilson, 49, of 1069 Waverly Heights Drive, Thousand Oaks, and John P. Toomey, 535

Wendy Drive, Newbury Park—mysteriously burst into flames in the Talley Corporation parking lot.

The fire department put out both fires, but the cars were destroyed. Firemen said both fires had been set, Toomey's possibly with gasoline, Wilson's possibly by lighting some John Birch Society literature which was on the back seat. Wilson is a member of the Society.

No Link in Fires, Welch Visit Found

Boy, 11, Admits
Setting 13 Blazes, Officers Claim

NEWBURY PARK—An 11-year-old boy who "liked to watch the red lights flashing on fire engines" Friday admitted setting 13 small fires in this area, deputy sheriffs said.

A Ventura deputy sheriff said apprehension of the youth cleared up any implication that the fires might have been linked with a scheduled visit next week of Robert Welch, John Birch Society founder.

Frank Talley, whose wife is a member of the society and at whose home Welch will hold a seminar discussion March 13 and 14, had demanded the investigation, branding the fires the work of "left-wing extremists."

Seen at Fire

The youth was taken into custody at his home shortly after noon Friday. Suspicion pointed toward him after a witness saw him leaving the scene of a fire last Wednesday in a construction company's chemical toilet.

"I like to watch the fire trucks in action," officers said the boy told them. He was held in Ventura Juvenile Hall pending a hearing.

Officers said the shooting of two horses near the Talley home apparently had no connection with the fires.

Birch Society Founder Calls King 'Hypocrite'

Nobel Prize Winner Labeled Red-Trained Troublemaker in Conservative Pamphlet

BY CARL GREENBERG
Times Political Writer

Robert Welch, John Birch Society founder, accuses Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King of being a "hypocritical troublemaker . . . who has been trained by the Communists." The attack was made in a pamphlet outlining Welch's plans to build conservative support for political candidates.

In the same pamphlet, Welch, who will be here Monday to begin a series of speeches, also says that:

1 — Secretary of State Dean Rusk "was one of the chief architects of American foreign policy that betrayed Chiang Kai-shek and placed China in the hands of Mao Tze-tung," after which Rusk "became for years one of Nelson Rockefeller's stable of liberals . . ."

2 — Rusk "fought every step of the way on every occasion for those decisions which were bound to bring about" the "defeat and betrayal" of the Bay of Pigs invaders of Cuba.

3—The "real purpose" of the "Washington machine, as dominated by our State Department," is to have South Vietnam "fall into Communist hands, without letting it appear that we pushed it."

Topics of Talks

The society's March bulletin, just released, also provides a preview of some of the things Welch plans to talk about in his speeches in this area to show "the near-idiocy of so much that the American people calmly accept today as making sense."

Among these:

1—The United States is giving millions of dollars to Communist Poland, which Poland in turn gives to Ho Chi Minh's Communist re-game in North Vietnam, whom we are now fighting in South Vietnam."

2—"We contend that for Protestant clergymen to give public parties for known homosexuals borders on insanity."

'Borders on Insanity'

3—"We contend that for the federal government to set up an organization and spend tax money to relieve poverty in such cities as Beverly Hills, Calif., borders on insanity."

4—"We contend that for high schools to promote pornography under the guise of sex education; that for great church organizations to recommend some of the most blasphemous books in print, under the pretense of supporting academic freedom; that for a judge to turn loose at once, on probation, an armed burglar caught in the act, and then when the same man is again caught in the same act in less than three weeks time, to turn him loose again . . . border on insanity."

Welch last week outlined plans to form at least 50 chapters of 20 members each in 325 congressional districts, but the ultimate goal envisions such chapters in all of the nation's 435 districts.

The pamphlet, which stated that the society now has 800 "section leaders" around the country, assailed Dr. King, now leading Negro voter-registration drives in the South, as one who:

"Regularly employs and associates with Communists, and whose every action for years has followed the Communist blueprint for subversion of our country."

Welch asserted that Dr.

BIRCH

King invites himself to the White House "whenever a 'meeting of the minds' between himself and the President is called for by his strategy."

The pamphlet said its contents, announcing the program for membership drives in congressional districts, "ought to dispel now for all time the falsehood, so carefully nurtured by the liberal press, that the John Birch Society is a secret or 'semi-secret' organization."

However, John H. Rousselot, JBS national public relations director, told The Times that JBS policy still is "to leave it to the individual to name himself (as a Birch member) if he so desires."

The same policy, he declared, applies to disclosing how many JBS members there are.

Rousselot said the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Civil Liberties Union follow the same policy, "but this has never been pointed out." He stated:

"This has been an overdrawn issue. We're really no different than many other organizations. I think probably as time goes on the policy may change on the number of members."

Police Membership

The March bulletin, listing the "agenda for the month," included a spotlight on "the movement to impeach Earl Warren," "The United Nations—Get US out!", the Liberty Amendment — which, among other things, would abolish the income tax—and the drive to "support your local police."

~~Mentioned in connection~~ with the latter campaign was a statement by Dominick Spina, director of police, Newark, N.J., that membership in JBS by policemen "does not conflict with police regulations" there.

Spina's statement was cited, it was indicated, because of "all of the fuss that the liberals have tried to raise about police officers themselves being members of the John Birch Society."

The bulletin contains a two-page reproduction of a statement by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in the January issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, saying a drive to establish civilian review boards to hear complaints against police officers is a "questionable" move and an "ill-advised maneuver."

Inserted in the reproduction was a message "to all conservatives" from the Philadelphia Committee to Support Your Local Police, asking financial aid in getting Hoover's statement to every citizen of that city.

From authoritative sources in Washington, it was learned that no FBI agents are known members of JBS and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job.

General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and the sources said JBS is considered such a group.

MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

At 11:42 a.m., 3/10/65, writer received a telephone complaint from one [redacted] telephone [redacted] who advised he wanted to talk to someone about civil rights. He was asked specifically if he was making a complaint regarding a violation of his civil rights, such as unlawful arrest, denial of rights, etc., because if so we would have an Agent talk with him immediately on a personal basis.

b6

From sound alone on the telephone it is the writer's opinion that a recorder of some sort was operating near the telephone.

[redacted] advised that something should be done about ROBERT WELCH, who was passing out leaflets in the South calling the civil rights movement communist inspired and that it had grown out of a plan formulated in 1925 to make a separate Negro nation by the CP.

[redacted] felt the Government should do something to overcome the thinking that this type of propaganda brought about; that the Negro in the South believed this, even [redacted] did, and it was [redacted] thought the Government ought to dispel this thinking.

[redacted] advised his thinking in this matter was being sent to the White House and his Representatives today by letter.

b7C

In view of the possibility that such conversation was recorded, [redacted] was advised that his comments were being made a matter of record and would be appropriately forwarded to the responsible agencies that have an interest. He was thanked for calling.

JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY LEADER LIGHTS UP
Robert Welch holds press conference here

Birch Founder Welcomes Probe

Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, said here today the organization welcomed an investigation by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

"We don't believe our organization is secret as some say, but there is considerable pressure from our own members to ask Congress for such an investigation," he said at a press conference in the Statler-Hilton.

Highlights of his answers were:

- The Birch Society believes a very small number of Negroes in America are either oppressed or deprived of their civil rights, but feels a program by the society to help the Negroes in Mississippi and Alabama get their right to register and vote "might be a good thing."

- The Birch Society believes there is too much Communist influence in Washington—most of it invisible—and that South Viet Nam will be "allowed to become Communist without the permissiveness being apparent."

Welch, making a series of speeches in Culver City, Santa Ana and Pasadena through Thursday, hit at American foreign and domestic policies—particularly for allowing scores to be "murdered by Communist-inspired mobs" in the Congo.

Birch Chief Picketed In Pasadena

Representatives of the Congress of Racial Equality, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Ban the Bomb adherents formed a picket line of 82 persons last night at Pasadena Civic Auditorium, 300 W. Green St.

Welch, speaking to a capacity audience of nearly 3000 persons, presented his society's view of "morality in State Department affairs," spokesmen said.

Billy Williams, 33, employment chairman of Pasadena CORE, said his organization was working separately from thers in the demonstration.

Birchists seek 50-100 county chapters

The ultra-conservative John Birch Society will seek to form 50 to 100 chapters in Riverside County, with a total of 1,000 or more members, according to John H. Rousselot, the society's director of public relations.

The organization previously had announced it was planning to establish 50 chapters of 20 members each in 325 of the 435 congressional districts in the United States.

RIVERSIDE and Imperial counties are in the 38th Congressional district. The membership goal in Imperial County will be somewhat lower than that in Riverside County, Rousselot said, because Imperial's population is considerably lower.

Rousselot said he didn't know exactly how many chapters the society presently has in Riverside County, "but we've got well over 10, I know that," he said.

He said membership in any given chapter is not limited, "but we try to keep them in small, workable units. They would seldom exceed 50 in number."

THE BIRCH public relations official said many of the organization's chapters meet in the living rooms of private homes "and a living room just doesn't hold too many people."

Asked about present total membership in Riverside County, Rousselot said "We haven't taken an estimate."

He added: "We've grown more rapidly in Orange County, but the basic attraction (to the Society's principles) is none the less in Riverside County."

A SUPPLEMENT to this month's John Birch Society Bulletin, outlining plans for the organization's growth, states that of the 435 congressional districts in the United States "there are probably 25 per cent where the left-wing political strength is so preponderant that it would be wiser to put our more serious efforts elsewhere."

The bulletin supplement adds: "But we believe, and considerable experience now supports this belief, that in more than half of the congressional districts of the United States, the educational work of 50 chapters of the John Birch Society would prove the decisive force in causing these districts to vote for the nomination and the election of truly conservative candidates."

The Society's announced membership drive aims seem to indicate it seeks to reach a membership total of 435,000 nationally, with 38,000 members in California.

THE SOCIETY does not issue membership figures, but estimates of present membership range from 80,000 to 100,000.

Roussetot said: "We are a permanent organization with long-range purposes, working for less government, more responsibility, and a moral, individualistic country. The Communists are for just the opposite."

A SPOT check with Birch Society leaders in Riverside County last week by Press-Enterprise reporters produced these comments:

● In Riverside, J. W. Longe, a Rohr Aircraft employee and Riverside section leader, said last night that the Riverside chapter is "doing all it can" to recruit new members at the present time. He added that recruitment is a continuing operation with the Society.

Definite instructions for recruitment are provided by the national organization, Longe said, including distribution of information packets and conduct of proscribed introductory meetings.

LONGE SAID he was not at liberty to reveal the number of Birch Society chapters in Riverside or the total membership figure.

● In Elsinore, Galal Gough, president of the First National Bank who said he is section leader in the Elsinore Valley, said there are several Society chapters in the area, but he wouldn't say how many nor what the total membership is.

Asked if the Society chapters in the Elsinore area have received specific instructions regarding a membership drive, Gough said nothing specific had been received. "The membership drive is going on all the time."

● In Corona-Norco, there is one chapter with a membership of more than 35, and two more chapters should be formed, according to Ivan Elwood, of 910 Joy in Norco, a real estate salesman.

He said the ideal number of members for a chapter is

10. Meetings are held once a month in members' homes, he said. He said the local group never takes political stands, but members are encouraged to take an interest in community affairs "to get information as to what is happening and what is going on."

● In the San Geronimo Pass, Mrs. Carol Swain, of Banning, Birch chapter leader, said there was no membership drive "as such" in progress or planned in this area.

She said recruitment of new Society members was always a project in her chapter, number one on the monthly business meeting agenda. "It is not always first in importance, however."

MRS. SWAIN said she would not disclose the number of members in the chapter, which has representatives from Cabazon, Beaumont, Banning and Cherry Valley. "It's a matter for the individual member to tell whether he is a member," she said, "for reasons that you can understand."

● In Palm Springs, there are many persons who will admit believing the Birch Society is on the right track and some of them will further admit to having attended Society meetings — but all of these will say they are not Society members and have no intention of joining.

IT IS RATHER tacitly admitted that there is a Birch chapter in the area — probably one which includes members as far to the east as Palm Desert, where Mrs. Susan Moore, of 74-085 Setting Sun Trail, states she has always "been in the forefront" of Society activity — and it has sponsored the appearances of two speakers at Palm Springs High School in the past 12 months. But its officers, as well as its members, are secretive and only Mrs. Moore has stepped forward as a spokesman.

● In Hemet, Quentin Miller and Wayne Wilcox, leaders of the two John Birch Society chapters in Hemet, said they have received no special instructions concerning an increase in membership activity here or elsewhere in the 38th Congressional District.

Both men said there is constant encouragement from Birch Society founder Robert Welch to work on increasing membership and that no special instructions have come in recent directives from the home chapter or from regional John Birch leaders.

THEY SAID interest in the Society in Hemet has increased in recent months and there has been a gain in membership. Neither man would give figures.

The second Hemet chapter, of which Wilcox is leader, was formed in January when membership in the original chapter became larger than desired. From the fact that it is the policy of the Society to keep chapter sizes small and to form new ones as membership increases it might be assumed that membership in each of the two chapters in Hemet is between 20 and 25.

There have been reports that another chapter exists in San Jacinto, but this has not been confirmed. Wilcox and Miller said they were not aware of a San Jacinto chapter. Some Hemet chapter members are from San Jacinto.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice
Washington, D.C. 20535

Dear Mr. Hoover:

If it is your policy to state your position in this matter, I should appreciate knowing whether the official attitude of the FBI toward the John Birch Society is that which is implied in an article by Carl Greenberg in the Los Angeles Times for March 7.

Enclosed is a Thermofax copy of the article in which Mr. Greenberg states:

"From authoritative sources in Washington, it was learned that no FBI agents are known members of JBS and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job.

"General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and the sources said JBS is considered such a group."

In the past there have been flagrant attempts by those wishing to disparage the Birch Society, to capitalize upon the recognized integrity of the FBI by implying that you or your organization have criticized the Society. Although Mr. Greenberg relies upon the "authoritative sources" gimmick, and does not state that the source is the FBI, many uncritical readers will assume that the authoritative source speaks for the FBI. This is especially true since Mr. Greenberg states unequivocally that the FBI considers that membership of its personnel in the Society would tend to bring the Bureau into disrepute.

I have been a member of the Society for five years, and have yet to meet a member who is not a decent, reputable and patriotic citizen, dedicated to Americanism in its highest sense. However, humans being what they are, there are undoubtedly members of the Society whose zeal leads to untoward actions. And, more likely, there are imposters with malicious intent who join the Society briefly, until discovered, in order to foster disrepute.

I should appreciate any comments you may be willing to make on this subject, and if the official attitude of the FBI as you express it is not as stated by Mr. Greenberg, I shall ask him and his paper to print a correction.

Sincerely,

Birch Society Founder Calls King 'Hypocrite'

Nobel Prize Winner Labeled Red-Trained
Troublemaker in Conservative Pamphlet

Los Angeles Times
3-7-65 BY CARL GREENBERG

Times Political Writer

Robert Welch, John Birch Society founder, accuses Nobel Peace Prize winner Martin Luther King Jr. of being a "hypocritical troublemaker" who has been trained by the Communists in a pamphlet outlining his plans to build conservative support for political candidates.

In the same pamphlet, Welch, who will be here Monday to begin a series of speeches, also says that:

1 — Secretary of State Dean Rusk "was one of the chief architects of American foreign policy that betrayed Chiang Kai-shek and placed China in the hands of Mao Tse-tung," after which Rusk "became for years one of Nelson Rockefeller's stable of liberals."

2 — Rusk "fought every step of the way on every occasion for those decisions which were bound to bring about" the "defeat and betrayal" of the Bay of Pigs invaders of Cuba.

3 — The "real purpose" of the "Washington machine, as dominated by our State Department," is to have South Vietnam "fall into Communist hands, without letting it appear that we pushed it."

Topics of Talks

The society's March bulletin, just released, also provides a preview of some of the things Welch plans to talk about in his speeches in this area to show "the near-idiocy of so much that the American people calmly accept today as making sense." Among these:

1 — The United States is giving millions of dollars to "Communist Poland, which Poland in turn gives to Ho Chi Minh's Communist regime in North Vietnam, whom we are now fighting in South Vietnam."

2 — "We contend that for Protestant clergymen to give public parties for known homosexuals borders on insanity."

3 — "We contend that for the federal government to set up an organization and spend tax money to relieve poverty in such cities as Berkeley, Calif., borders

4 — "We contend that for high schools to promote pornography under the guise of sex education; that for great church organizations to recommend some of the most blasphemous books in print, under the pretense of supporting academic freedom; that for a judge to turn loose at once, on probation, an armed burglar caught in the act, and then when the same man is again caught in the same act in less than three weeks time, to turn him loose again... border on insanity."

Plans 50 Chapters

Welch last week outlined plans to form at least 50 chapters of 20 members each in 325 congressional districts, but the ultimate goal envisions such chapters in all of the nation's 435 districts.

The pamphlet, which stated that the society now has 800 "section leaders" around the country, assailed Dr. King, now leading Negro voter-registration drives in the South, as one who:

"Regularly employs and associates with Communists, and whose every action for years has followed the Communist blueprint for subversion of our country."

Welch asserted that Dr. King invites himself to the White House "whenever a 'meeting of the minds' between himself and the President is called for by his strategy."

The pamphlet said its contents, announcing the program for membership drives in congressional districts, "ought to dispel now for all time the falsehood, so carefully nurtured by the liberal press, that the John Birch Society is a secret or 'semi-secret' organization."

Members' Decision

However, John H. Rousset, JBS national public relations director, told The Times that JBS policy still is "to leave it to the individual to name himself (as a Birch member) if he so desires."

The same policy, he declared, applies to disclosing

BIRCH FOUNDER

how many JBS members there are.

Rousset said the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Civil Liberties Union follow the same policy, "but this has never been pointed out." He stated:

"This has been an overdrawn issue. We're really no different than many other organizations. I think probably as time goes on the policy may change on the number of members."

The March bulletin, listing of "all of the fuss that the liberals have tried to raise" included a spotlight on "the about police officers themselves in Washington, it was of holes as required by law."

selves being members of the John Birch Society."

The bulletin contains a two-page reproduction of a statement by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in the January issue of the Law Enforcement Bulletin, saying a drive to establish civilian review boards to hear complaints against police officers is a "questionable move and an ill-advised maneuver."

Inserted in the reproduction was a message "to all conservatives" from the Philadelphia Committee to Support Your Local Police, asking financial aid in getting Hoover's statement to every city.

He said the copper still would be of little use, however, since it was punched full of holes as required by law.

Confiscated Still

Stolen From Sheriff

BLOUNTVIEW, Tenn. — Sheriff Kyle Weaver said that a confiscated 60-gallon liquor still was stolen from Your Local Police, asking financial aid in getting Hoover's statement to every city.

He said the copper still would be of little use, however, since it was punched full of holes as required by law.

On 3/10/65 BEN DOBBS again appeared on the program "Opinion" on KPFK FM, Los Angeles at 6:30 PM. He was introduced as "a spokesman for the Communist Party, a communist organization". DOBBS noted that ROBERT WELCH "the Fuehrer of the John Birch Society" was in the Los Angeles area attending meetings and giving press conferences and that WELCH had come out against civil rights. He stated that WELCH claimed that the civil rights movement was really an attempt by the Communist Party to communize the entire Southeastern part of the United States for the Negroes.

DOBBS denied that there was any communist influence of the civil rights movement in the South. He quoted BAYARD RUSTIN to show that the civil rights movement stems from dissatisfaction with what are basically social and economic conditions. DOBBS stated that it was in the interest of the capitalist class to make money out of the oppression of the Negro people and he quoted employment and wage statistics in support of this.

DOBBS stated that the purpose of the CP was explained in a resolution at "our last convention" which stated in part "the Negro people's movement is today's standard-bearer to open up the now restricted areas of Democracy". He stated that this resolution was from the 17th National Convention of the CP, USA.

Nobel Prize Winner Labeled Red-Trained

BY CARL GREENBERG

Times Political Writer

Robert Welch, John Birch Society founder, accuses Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King of being a "hypocritical troublemaker . . . who has been trained by the Communists." The attack was made in a pamphlet outlining Welch's plans to build conservative support for political candidates.

Police Membership

The March bulletin, listing the "agenda for the month," included a spotlight on "the movement to impeach Earl Warren," "The United Nations—Get US out!", the Liberty Amendment — which, among other things, would abolish the income tax — and the drive to "support your local police."

Mentioned in connection with the latter campaign was a statement by Dominick Spina, director of police, Newark, N.J., that membership in JBS by policemen "does not conflict with police regulations" there.

Spina's statement was cited, it was indicated, because of "all of the fuss that the liberals have tried to raise about police officers themselves being members of the John Birch Society."

The bulletin contains a two-page reproduction of a statement by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in the January issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, saying a drive to establish civilian review boards to hear complaints against police officers is a "questionable" move and an "ill-advised maneuver."

Inserted in the reproduction was a message "to all conservatives" from the Philadelphia Committee to Support Your Local Police, asking financial aid in getting Hoover's statement to every citizen of that city.

General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and the sources said JBS is considered such a group.

I am attaching a newspaper clipping to this letter which contains an article about Mr Robert Welch and his plans for building conservative support for political candidates. My primary reason for sending you the article is to ask you for a verification of statements made by the L.A. Times Political Editor, Mr Carl Greenberg in the last 2 paragraphs of the article, which I have encircled in red pencil. He makes reference to "authoritative sources" and "general FBI policy". Is it true, Mr Hoover, that if an FBI <sup>agent</sup> ~~was~~ found to be a member of the John Birch Society, he would lose his job? Is it also true that the FBI considers the John Birch Society an organization with whom, if its agents became associated, would tend to bring disrepute upon the FBI??

Of late, there have been many attacks against the John Birch Society, by newspapers and columnists all over the U.S. One specific instance is the editorial in the Oct 29 1964 St Petersburg Florida Times accusing the JBS of urging its members to buy arms to defend themselves and implying that the information came from an official JBS ~~and~~ publication also the May 12 1964 telecast by [redacted] showing a man supposed to be a Treasury of FBI agent who had arrested two men with a large supply of guns and ammunition who were supposed to be negotiating with the JBS to sell them. These are both lies and deliberate falsehoods, Mr Hoover.

If what Mr Greenberg has said in his article is not true, Mr Hoover, I intend to let him know about it with your reply. Reporting the news and the facts are one thing but deliberately lying to mislead and misinform the public is another. I certainly hope that you will acknowledge this letter with a categorical straight forward answer to my questions.

yours truly,

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation
United States Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover,

On March 7, 1965, the Los Angeles Times printed an article by Carl Greenberg, one of their political writers, concerning the March, 1965, bulletin of The John Birch Society. After mentioning the two-page reproduction of your statement which appeared in the January, 1965, issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Mr. Greenberg continues with the following:

"From authoritative sources in Washington, it was learned that no FBI agents are known members of JBS and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job."

"General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and the sources said JBS is considered such a group."

I am particularly interested, Mr. Hoover, in knowing if the latter quoted paragraph is true, and if this information was issued with your knowledge?

Yours truly,

$2.5 Million Suit Names Birch Founder Welch

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, has been served with papers in a $2.5 million damage suit brought by Robert Battin, defeated State Senate candidate. The suit alleges false arrest and conspiracy to commit false arrest. Welch, who was handed the papers during a speaking engagement at Santa Ana Valley High School auditorium, declined comment.

He was one of several defendants named by Battin. Others include State Sen. John Schmitz, R-Orange County; John LaMagna, who served on Schmitz' campaign staff; the Birch Society, and its public relations director, former Republican Congressman John Rousselot.

Battin, jailed two days before the election on the basis of LaMagna's citizen's arrest, contends the incident lost him the election. LaMagna had accused Battin of trying to run him down with a car, but Dist. Atty. Kenneth Williams dropped the charge, saying there was insufficient evidence. Battin charged the Birch Society was involved in his arrest. Santa Ana has been involved in controversy for several months over allegations that the Birch Society has infiltrated the police department.

Welch Allows Newsman to Hear Birch Goals

BY PAUL BECK
Times Staff Writer

The slight, dapper man, his sparse gray hair slightly mussed by the wind, stepped to the microphones in front of the room and rapped for attention.

For the next two days, he spoke—earnestly, with the utmost conviction and with the spirit of a man bent on a holy crusade. For seven hours each day his voice was the only one heard except for a half-dozen questions by his audience.

The speaker was Robert Welch, founder and head of the John Birch Society.

100 Invited

His audience consisted of about 100 invited guests—some 30 members and staff of the society, about 70 prospective members and one newspaperman.

The occasion was a seminar on the John Birch Society being conducted by the master himself. It was the first time in the six-year history of the society that a newspaperman was permitted to sit in and report on a seminar.

Only one rule was laid down at the outset:

Everyone attending must agree to spend the entire two days at the seminar so the complete presentation on the John Birch Society could be heard and, hopefully, understood and agreed upon.

At Valley Ranch

Last weekend's sessions at the High Valley Ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Talley in the Thousand Oaks section of Ventura County started at 9 a.m. and ended precisely at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, then continued from 9 a.m. Sunday to 6:05 o'clock that evening.

Except for four 15-minute coffee breaks and two one-hour lunch periods, Robert Welch completely dominated every minute.

The 65-year-old founder of the ultra-conservative society—in the 14 hours before his audience—did not reveal any new precepts of his organization nor disclose any major new plans of action in his goal to eliminate communism.

Founding Recalled

Instead, his discourse hinged on the original presentation he made to 11 men on Dec. 8-9, 1958, in Indianapolis when he founded the John Birch Society.

For the most part, he read almost word for word from the society's bible—the Blue Book.

But at times, Welch departed from the written word to cite examples of claimed Communist advances in the United States and throughout the world.

And it was during these diversions from the Blue Book that the audience would listen intently to the founder's words, nodding heads and grunting in agreement at particular allegations on how the world's leaders committed treason and sold out to the Communist conspiracy.

Poor Orator

Welch is no orator. His approach is almost dispassionate. But his voice carries a ringing conviction.

For his followers, there can be no dispute about the worldwide crisis being created by an unrelenting Communist conspiracy.

And, he tells his audience, there can be no question among members of the John Birch Society about his leadership or the group's aims. As he pointed out, the Blue Book says:

"The men (and women) who join the John Birch Society during the next few months or few years are going to be doing so primarily because they believe in me and what I am doing and are willing to accept my leadership anyway."

Frowns on Dissent

In the fight against communism, Welch said in the Blue Book, "We are not going to be in the position of having the society's work weakened by raging debates. We are not going to have questions developing on the theme."

And, he added at the seminar, "The two sides to every question bit is folly . . . nonsense."

The 70-odd non-members—men and women ranging in age from their 20s to their 60s thus heard from the leader of the Birch Society his actual words and thoughts about the Red menace.

The seminar was the climax of a week-long visit to Southern California by Welch as part of a new drive to recruit 38,000 members in California and a total of 325,000 nationally by the end of 1966. Present estimates range between 80,000 and 100,000 members.

A press conference, his speeches, television appearance and the invitation to a reporter to sit in on a seminar are perhaps the first indications that Welch is moving his organization into a more public-oriented position.

"And while he made known certain misgivings about actual reporting of the seminar, he concedes that the society is getting "much better and fairer treatment" from the press.

He says this is caused by two things: A better public relations program by the society and because "as we've grown and become more influential, it becomes more difficult (for the press) to put out more falsehoods about us because too many people know now it isn't true."

How many new members Welch picked up is not known. John Rousselot, the society's public relations director, said some persons undoubtedly signed up immediately after the seminar, while others will talk it over at home before applying for membership.

Welch himself, however, added more than $10,000 to the organization's treasury with speeches at Culver City, Santa Ana and Pasadena.

While delivering his monologue — or reading his speeches — Welch is deeply serious about his subject, communism.

But he is a man of humor, too.

During coffee breaks at last weekend's seminar, he always slipped out of the room and, hat on head and cane in hand, stroked briskly up and down the hillside paths.

Once, when rain had driven everyone else inside, Welch returned from his walk, paused in front of this reporter and remarked with a twinkle in his eye:

"You see, this proves we conservatives don't have enough sense to come in out of the rain."

He gives his time freely after his speeches and when he concludes a 2-day seminar.

At Pasadena's Civic Auditorium, for example, he patiently stood on the stage for upwards of 45 minutes to shake hands and exchange a few words with everyone who wanted to greet him.

A few moments before that, however, Welch was as curt and brusque with an obvious anti-John Birch Society questioner as anyone could be.

"I don't believe you are beginning to ask an honest question or have an honest purpose," Welch told the questioner, who was drowned out by boos when he asked about using violence to combat communism.

And when one person in the audience asked why more Pasadena Negroes weren't in attendance, Welch replied:

"I can't hear you and I don't think it is worthwhile."

But he received an ovation — one of more than 30 that interrupted his speech and his answers to questions — when a Negro walked on stage to prove Negroes were attending.

While Welch's major aim is "less government and more responsibility," he is a bitter critic of anti-colonialism.

British 'Betrayal'

"One of the greatest crimes in all history was Great Britain betraying its colonial peoples into communism . . . under the guise of giving them independence," he said.

France, the United States and other nations have done the same — not because they wanted colonial nations to become independent but to allow communism to easily take over their governments.

"There is one reassuring thing I can tell you," Welch told his seminar. "If you are worried about an external war, don't. Nothing is more remote."

He explained the Communists do not have the military strength to fight the United States and a third world war is impossible because "they can't trust their own people."

"A third world war would be the signal for revolts in Hungary, Poland, East Germany and everywhere else the Communists have imposed their rule — on all enslaved peoples."

No East-West Conflict

"That's why we never have to worry about any real contest between the East and West. It is ridiculous."

Welch continually points out he formed the society for a purpose beyond the elimination of communism: "Our fight against communism is purely an incidental matter to our long-range purpose," he says, which is:

"Less government, more responsibility and a better world."

Welch is absolutely convinced that, as of now, only his John Birch Society can accomplish this goal.

Everyone else, he says, falls into four basic categories: Communists; Communist dupes or sympathizers; the uninformed who have yet to be awakened to the Communist danger; and the ignorant.

Challenge Still Pending

Recently The Times devoted considerable space to an interview with Robert Welch, the head of the John Birch Society.

A substantial segment of that article was devoted to statements by Mr. Welch to the effect that the claims of discrimination against Negroes in the South had been grossly exaggerated by the leaders of the civil rights movement.

Regardless of the newsworthiness of such unsupported assertions by a leader of the extreme right, I suggest that facts in this area, which are being uncovered in the course of current legal processes, merit no less than equal coverage.

There is presently pending in Congress a legal challenge to the seating of the Mississippi delegation filed by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party. Pursuant to procedures established by statute, more than 400 depositions have been taken in Mississippi. More than 100 lawyers from all over the country, including more than 20 from Los Angeles, contributing their services and expenses, took these depositions throughout the state of Mississippi.

It can fairly be said that this testimony under oath establishes conclusively a pattern of terror, economic retaliation and discrimination in the registration process, frightening in its scope and intensity. That the Negro, with rare exceptions, is not allowed to vote in Mississippi is clear beyond any doubt.

The taking of these depositions and the facts thus developed received coverage in many newspapers. However, these newsworthy matters did not find their way into The Times. Certainly the people of Los Angeles should have available to them the evidence, which exposes the falsity of the statements made by Welch.

The facts are available and are still timely; the depositions will soon be filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives and, under the law, will be considered first by the Elections Committee and then by the full House. The challenge of the Freedom Democratic Party represents an historically important activity of the civil rights movement. It should receive newspaper coverage commensurate with such importance.

Dear Member

Perhaps you have heard or read about the closing of 17 V. A. Hospitals and Domiciliaries

So now is the time to write in. In protest to any cutback in V.A. Services

Write to Senators Murphy or Kuchel tell them you don't think the Government is being fair to the Veterans who fought for their Country in time of war, Write right away. Don't put it off. Its Important.

Also I would like to put in a word or two about Communism. As you know its a threat to our very existence.

I would suggest that you join some good Patriotic Organisation Like the John Birch Society The only one that is really doing any good against Communism
Here are several things we are trying to do. (1) Get U.S. out of the U.N. (2) Impeach Earl Warren. (3) Support the Liberty Amendment to Abolish the Income tax. Support your Local Police.

But at any rate Stick up for your Country. Be an American. Stand up and be Counted. Because if we lose this fight. Think what it will be like living under slavery.

And that is what we will have if the American People don't wake up pretty soon. It seems that most Americans are too busy making that extra Buck.

That is just what the Commies want us to do while they stick a knife in our backs.

It is hard to believe that men we have elected would sell us out to the Commies. But thats just what they are doing.

But anyway do what you can to stop the tide of Communism.

Right Wing Groups Going at Full Speed

By Sterling F. Green

DESPITE crushing defeat last November, right wing groups already are gearing up a major political effort for the 1966 elections.

The John Birch Society is pushing a massive membership drive and aiming for a $12 million budget in 1966. That would be four times its 1964 income and 10 times as much as it collected in 1963.

A new political action group, the American Conservative Union, has opened a busy headquarters near the Capitol in Washington. Its leaders, many of whom were active in the Goldwater movement, say they aim to keep conservatism dominant in the Republican party.

Some Democratic Congressmen report a step-up in ultra-conservative activity in their home district. One House member said his "right-wing file" of mail already is almost as large as it became during the whole of the 1964 session.

The National Education Association, in a new booklet, advises educators to expect no letup in ultraconservative attacks on public schools, which it said reached a peak in the 1964 campaign.

Little change has been noted in the basic themes. They include opposition to foreign aid, the United Nations, and "socialists" in government; demands for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren; advocacy of the prayer-in-school amendment and enlargement of the war in Viet Nam, and — in some cases — support for racial segregation.

While the conservatives have been digging in, their liberal and moderate foes in both parties have tended to relax since the Johnson landslide.

The National Council for Civic Responsibility, organized last fall to combat the far-right influence by "telling the truth about The John Birch Society and related radical reactionary groups," has closed its New York headquarters.

By contrast, hard-core conservatives have exhibited elation and fresh resolve, built on their achievement in dominating a major party and naming its candidate. Bumper stickers distributed by one right-wing group proclaim: "26 million Americans can't be wrong."

The Birch Society's blueprint for 1966, disclosed by its founder, Robert Welch, calls for contributions of $10 to $50,000 to make possible a budget of $1 million a month.

The goal, he wrote in a pamphlet issued with the society's March bulletin, is to elect conservatives to Congress.

At this stage it is not feasible to organize in all of the 435 congressional districts in the country, Welch explained, so activity will be limited to three-fourths of them. Even so, he foresees conservative successes in half of all the districts, because:

"The educational work of 50 chapters of The John Birch Society (in each district) would prove the decisive force in causing these districts to vote for the nomination and the election of truly conservative candidates."

The American Conservative Union, founded at a meeting in Washington in December, has been described as being more directly concerned with political strategy and tactics than with disseminating conservative ideology.

Shunning the "extremist" label, the ACU has barred Birch members from becoming officers or directors. The 70 organizers who attended the kickoff meeting included several who founded the National Draft Goldwater Committee and helped bring about Goldwater's nomination.

The full-time chairman is former Rep. Donald C. Bruce, R-Ind., who was defeated in a bid for a U.S. Senate seat. The vice chairman is Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio.

The secretary of the ACU is Robert Bauman, who is also chairman of the Young Americans for Freedom, and one of the directors is Peter O'Donnell Jr., Dallas oilman who was national chairman of the Draft Goldwater Committee.

Group Research Inc., a private organization which says it keeps tabs on pressure groups and their broadcast output, says it sees no decline in right-wing radio and television activity since the election.

The Life Line Foundation, whose patron is Texas oilman H. L. Hunt, has maintained undiminished activity. Its daily radio commentary was being carried by 431 stations in December. Foreign aid, urban renewal, aid to education, and the U.N. are its frequent targets.

Some of the 7,000 programs a week, averaging 15 minutes each, are supported by sponsors. Others are offered as public service programs.

"There has been no sign of disillusionment among the conservatives," Wesley McCune, director of Group Research, said.

"They got clobbered, but they reached their high water mark of achievement. So far there has been no hint of withdrawing into a third party — apparently they intend to keep on working within the GOP and the Dixiecrats."

No Birchers Allowed In FBI

It is comforting to know that no FBI agents are known members of the John Birch Society and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job.

General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and Washington sources state that the JBS is considered such a group.

All law enforcement agencies should take note of this policy. If it is good enough for the FBI it should be good enough for any police group.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Mr. Hoover:

In an article in the Los Angeles Times of March 7, 1965, Times writer, Carl Greenberg, said, "From authoritative sources in Washington, it was learned that no FBI agents are known members of JBS (the John Birch Society) and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job.

General FBI policy is to ban association of its employees with any organization that would tend to bring the bureau into disrepute, and the sources said JBS is considered such a group."

Could you please tell me if Mr. Greenberg's "authoritative sources" are correct?

29 March 1965

Dear Mr. Hoover,

An article written in the Los Angeles Times under the by-line of Carl Greenberg stated "From authoritative sources in Washington, it was learned that no FBI agents are known members of JBS (John Birch Society) and that, if one did join, it would cost him his job."

As a former employee of the F.B.I. (Identification Division June 1953 to December 1955) I was surprised to hear that the Bureau had taken such a position.

The Society is not listed as a subversive organization by the Attorney Generals Office. It has received a clean bill of health from the California Senate Fact Finding Committee in 1963 after two years of investigation. None of the literature published by or for the Society has ever advocated the disobedience of any law legal or moral. The members are never involved in any activities which would bring discredit to themselves or the Society.

Knowing the above to be true about the Society, it behooves me to inquire as to the official position of your office.

Your clarification of this question of censorship will be greatly appreciated.

GOP Women Blast Dial Slander

Any development that helps to separate the "kooks" from honest conservatives in our society is good for the ideological health of the community. So it was encouraging to learn that the board of directors of the California Federation of Republican Women, meeting in San Francisco, had "urgently requested the FBI to investigate the origins and sponsorship" of right-wing telephone hookups that are making vicious attacks on President Eisenhower and other distinguished Americans.

The board of the federation, which prides itself on voicing a conservative view on some political issues, voted unanimously in favor of the resolution blasting the recorded phone messages. It was introduced by a Santa Barbara member. The program chairman, from Long Beach, commented: "We are conservative, but we are not nuts." The statement may be inelegant, but it is refreshingly apt.

This messy business of impersonal, anonymous and poisonous slander of decent citizens and honored statesmen is nothing new to Santa Barbara, for this is one of the first places in the country where the self-confessed "dirty tactics" advocated by Robert Welch were exposed to the light of day and so made relatively ineffectual.

So much glossing over has been done since that time by the spokesmen and friends of the John Birch Society, to give the organization a more polite image, that people who have not followed the news developments over the years may be fooled into regarding Birchism as just an "enthusiastic" branch of the true conservatives in the political and social spectrum. One glimpse of the real fanaticism of the author of "The Politician" and the founder-ruler of the Birch Society, through hearing a tape recording of one of the telephone diatribes, was enough to anger and sicken the Republican women who help to guide the destinies of their party in California.

Whether the FBI has any means of curbing or controlling such immoral slandering devices is doubtful. Freedom of speech must not be tampered with, even to silence reckless distortions and prevarications which can do great harm to the political climate and to the people's confidence in the men they have elevated to high office.

It is to be hoped, however, that the FBI or some other agency will be able to throw a strong beam of pitiless publicity on such operations as the "dial-a-number" slanders that once buzzed into the ears of curious Santa Barbarans. That practice suddenly stopped when legal action was instituted by one of the targets, the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

It would appear reasonable, and desirable, that the anonymity of such recorded phone campaigns of vilification should be prohibited. A victim of slander should have the right to know whom he can sue.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Please be advised that I have recently subscribed to certain communist publications including THE WORKER and PEOPLE'S WORLD in the name of [redacted] This name stands for John Birch Society chapter CSOP of which I am a member.

I am an ardent and dedicated anti-communist and I intend to do everything within my power to "halt, weaken, route and eventually to bury, the whole international Communist conspiracy."

To this end, I believe that to be better informed is to be better armed as the John Birch Society is an educational army fighting with facts.

I shall therefore from time to time in the future subscribe to various communist publications including those above mentioned, as these are the best source from which to ascertain their strategy and tactics.

Birch Float, Banned in Parade, Put on Display

Exclusive to The Times from a Staff Writer

SANTA ANA—The 61st annual Huntington Beach Fourth of July parade was held Monday without the John Birch Society's float, but the society unveiled its entry afterward in front of the Central Elementary School.

About 400 persons viewed the float, dominated by a golden Statue of Liberty surrounded by flags, and attended a society-sponsored "Fundamentals of Freedom" rally in the school gymnasium.

The Birch float was banned last week by the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce on the ground that parade policy excludes entries by political parties or controversial groups. No one had objected to the composition of the float.

The float, however, was spoofed Monday by the Webster Quimmley Society, a satirical organization that pokes fun at certain political groups.

Parked nearby was a Quimmley two-wheel box trailer emblazoned with the slogans, "Sanity and Freedom" and "Patriotism Without Panic."

An appeal from the chamber's ruling filed by the American Civil Liberties Union has been put over until July 22 in Superior Court. A court decision could affect the character of next year's parade.

No Birch Float in 4th Parade

Huntington Beach's big Fourth of July parade will be held as scheduled, but without the John Birch Society's float in the line.

The way was cleared yesterday when Orange County Superior Court Judge Stephen Tamura postponed until July 22 a hearing on an injunction suit to restrain the Chamber of Commerce from conducting the parade. The Chamber had banned the Birch float.

Ironically, the suit's plaintiff, Michael J. Filardo, was represented by a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union.

Filardo, astronomy teacher at East Los Angeles State College and Roosevelt High School in Los Angeles, said:

"I am not a member of the Birch Society and have no intention of becoming a member, but I will defend to the death the right of any such society to have a float in the parade."

The float won't be in the parade, but it will be on exhibit at the Huntington Beach Central School, with permission of the district school board.

Tendering notification of their difficulties, via certified mail, to an organization called the FREEDOM LEGAL AID GROUP, ten days ago, we recieved a reply as of this date, at 11:30p.m. Individual members of the float committee wished to file a taxpayers suit against the city of Huntington Beach relative to the tax money going to the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. F. L. A. G. informs this committee that they MAY release a statement to the press, saying, in effect, that F. L. A. G. has submitted this matter to its BOARD OF DIRECTORS, and is CONSIDERING aiding the committee. The matter will be discussed at their next regular meeting sometime in July.

So you see, fellow patriots, when LIBERALS are confronted with the necessity to act, they ACT...with incredible speed. As witness the appearance of the QUIMLEY outfit at the Board meeting. And, as witness the CAL STORES, bringing action against veterans of Viet Nam and Korea, within hours, who were protesting the sale by the store of COMMUNIST merchandise. That action was patently unConstitutional, and yet it was shortly after upheld by the court. QUESTION: Is it IMPOSSIBLE for the people who are willing to be in our first line of OFFENSE, in this battle, to get support in their efforts, either openly or behind the scenes? Sometimes it is necessary to move with speed and precision, even at the sacrifice of a little lost sleep.

As of this hour, THE FLOAT will definitely be located at the CENTRAL Elementary School playground, 17th and Palm Streets, in the City of Huntington Beach. It will be UNVEILED shortly after the parade ends, and we know you will want to be there.

Our original intention was to have a patriotic rally and picnic at the float site. As of this evening, the School Board has denied us this request, in violation of Public Law Educational Code #13561 and 13562. This matter will be taken up with the County Counsel in the morning. If the County Counsel, by their past recommendations, stay consistent, we are very optimistic about being allowed the use of this property for both rally and picnic, as well as the display of the float.

Doesn't it seem, fellow patriot, that this is a rallying point, a time for re-dedication, for renewing of our fervor, and for public expression of our determination to continue our educational program? Senator John Schmitz believes it is, and has so stated. We invite you to join us at CENTRAL school on July 5th, in a great outpouring of goodwill and love, to totally confound the skeptics, and to convince the waverers.

You will be kept informed of further developments.

COMMUNIQUE # 3

"LET NONE BUT AMERICANS STAND GUARD, TONIGHT"
George Washington

THE HOUR IS LATE

As we sit here, writing this, the realization floods in upon us, even stronger than before, that the hour is VERY late. When will the point of no return be reached?

The HUNTINGTON BEACH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE recieved a letter from the city Council, informing them that the Council wanted the Birch Socieity Float in the parade, and asking the Chamber to reconsider. The CHAMBER met, and again refused the float entry.

We polled the Council members, to see if they would stand behind their statements about withdrawing funds from the Chamber. But alas, now that the time for a show of strength had arrived, political expediency took the upper hand. They were unwilling to follow through.

Concerning the CHAMBER vote. It was reported the vote was 17 to 0. This is a blatant lie, for we have learned from persons attending that it was a voice vote, with many dissenters, and several walked out of the meeting in disgust.

It is unfortunate that [redacted] car was stolen during the week, and that he made public statements to one of the Council members, accusing Birch Society members of stealing it. Two teen-agers have since been apprehended. Also, when [redacted] called [redacted] requesting the by laws of the Huntington Beach Chamber, he was flatly refused and [redacted] was extremely rude on the telephone.

An application was submitted by [redacted] for use of the CENTRAL SCHOOL playground. The editor of the DAILY PILOT called him on the afternoon of June 30, to advise that the board members would permit the use of the playground for display purposes. [redacted] and a fellow Society member attended the Board meeting that night, and, on arriving, discovered that the WEBSTER QUIMLEY SOCIETY, an outfit backed by one [redacted] was present in the form of two men who were applying for use of the playground in order to display a "float", consisting of a "beat up old antique, with a mechanism on the back that paints a stripe down the middle of the road". This was obviously an attempt to ridicule the JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY. These two men were treated with great courtesy by the board, despite the ludicrous presentation they made, while [redacted] was treated with great brusqueness and lack of respect. The application of the QUIMLEY outfit was accepted, along with that of the BIRCH SOCIETY, however, the Board angrily made it clear they would not permit the Birch float committee members to distribute any literature, have a loudspeaker, sell literature, or hold a patriotic rally.

John Birch Critic Draws Heated Reply

Editor, The News:

In answer to Mr. Senn, director, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith:

Mr. Senn:

How dare you attack the John Birch Society when they are the only real effective group out to save your skin? It's about time the B'nai

PUBLIC FORUM

B'rith open up their eyes and stop knocking the hand that works so hard to save them. I have yet to meet just one B'nai B'rith member who knows what he is really talking about.

As a Jew myself, I know of what I speak because I am a John Bircher, proud and happy and grateful to be a member and I suggest that director Milton A. Senn join the John Birch Society and find out how unjustly false his accusations against the Birch Society are.

Every organization has committees and I dare say these projects of the John Birch Society are not "fronts," as Mr. Senn calls them, but rather, they are in actuality projects to correct the wrongs that are corrupting and selling out America to slavery!

Is Called "Danger"

The Anti-Defamation League sounds as though it is itself a "front" causing doubt and fear against the only real propagators of truth and honesty. Keep it up Mr. Senn—that's just what the Communists want!

~~One of the many dangers,~~ in fact, in "confusing and dividing America and constituting a serious threat to our democratic processes," as Mr. Senn writes, is Mr. Senn with his falsities and misconceptions.

The twisted, sheep-type followers of the B'nai B'rith had better open up their closed, block-headed minds and find out which side of the bread their butter is on.

It's almost diabolical how a Jewish organization refuses to pay tribute, but instead, slams and smears the one organization which is so highly dedicated to stamp out communism, nazism, anti-semitism and any totalitarianism.

Says "Dig Deeper"

In conclusion, I, for one, if given a choice between B'nai B'rith and the John Birch Society, would fight with my life for the principles of the John Birch Society. To set the record straight, the John Birch Society wants no more for America than did George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Henry Clay or any of our founding forefathers.

Dig deeper, Mr. Senn. I hope I never feel the shame and injustice and regret that you will feel when the truth and true principles of the John Birch Society finally come to light for you.

Thus far I have been proud of my Jewish heritage because my family, my teachers, and all the Jews I've known have always been great lovers of truth and freedom, a people fighting hard for a purer more honest way of life with the very highest standards of morality.

Birch Society Dropped From Damage Suit

The John Birch Society and two of its top officials have been eliminated from a $2.5 million damage suit arising out of last November's State Senate race in Orange County.

Superior Judge Stephen Tamura in Santa Ana dismissed the action filed by attorney Robert Battin against the society, its national president, Robert Welch, and its West Coast director, former Congressman John Rousset.

However, Battin's suit against Frank La Magna and State Sen. John Schmitz remains in effect pending further court action.

Battin, a Democratic candidate for the State Senate seat, filed the suit on grounds of false arrest, alleging a conspiracy to have him arrested two days before the November election.

The lawyer was jailed briefly after La Magna made a citizen's arrest, claiming Battin had tried to run him down with a car after being caught defacing a Schmitz campaign sign in South Santa Ana.

A demonstration was planned at Woodrow Wilson High School, Long Beach, California, on August 10, 1965, where General Walker was scheduled to appear as a speaker in criticism of Administration policy with respect to war in Vietnam. GENERAL EDWIN P. WALKER

"No More Escalation"
"A Former General I Can't Believe It"
"Walker For President Hitler For Vice President"

The placards did not indicate what organizations were represented by the demonstrators.

It was estimated there were 1,500 in attendance for General Walker's speech with $1.00 admission charge.

It was announced at the meeting that General Walker's appearance was sponsored by the Long Beach Chapters of the John Birch Society. Walker criticized the Administration for moving toward a one world government. He was critical of alleged appeasement methods by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Walker said the politicians, not the military, are controlling the war in Vietnam and have adopted a no-win policy.

The demonstration was peaceful and there were no incidents between demonstrators and Birch Society members.

Supervisor John S. Temple advised Duty Sergeant [redacted] 115th INTC, United States Army, Pasadena, California, of the demonstration at the appearance of General Walker at 1:15 p.m., on August 10, 1965.

From Monday, June 14, 1965, to Monday, June 28, 1965, the Progressive Student Educational Encampment, a closed group composed almost entirely of Communist Party (CP) youth and run by CP personnel, met at Camp Midvale, Ringwood County, New Jersey.

Approximately 80 "youths" took part in the encampment's program, a few of whom were not Communists but would after completion of the two week program be in line for CP membership. Individuals were referred to only by first name and the area they came from. No last names were used. There were some individuals, because of security reasons, who did not use their right names or their real residences. Included in attendance were the following:

Some of these individuals arrived late for the encampment's program as did some of the people from California. Some left early, especially those going to the Youth Festival. Some individuals only participated in a few days of the program as did the individuals from Puerto Rico.

The administrators of the encampment included CP leaders [redacted] and [redacted] (white female around 50). The person who appeared to be in a position of assuming final responsibility for the encampment was [redacted] who seemed to make all major decisions in the background while [redacted] assumed responsibility for relations with the encampment members as a member of the administration. [redacted] seemed to handle the details for arrangements insofar as the encampment administrative responsibilities were concerned.

As part of the administration certain individuals comprised a teaching staff of the encampment and acted to organize and put into effect the study program. These teachers changed their assignments in the various study groups during the two week period, staying with one of the four groups an average of three days, although in some cases only one day, in others almost a week. Approximately 15, possibly more, individuals comprised the teaching and lecturing staff, some of whom were:

[redacted] (LNU) from Los Angeles who not only acted as a teacher, but also was a student in the Mass Policy Study Group.

As the youth arrived on June 13 and 14, 1965, they filled out a questionnaire relating to their occupation, political background, political and educational experience, choice of residence this summer and political organizing work, etc. On a basis of the questionnaire and knowledge of the persons by the encampment administration, people were placed into four basic study groups for the duration of the two week program:

- General Study Group 1
- General Study Group 2
- Mass Policy Study Group
- Civil Rights Study Group

Each group was to study problems of society along Marxist-Leninist lines. General Groups 1 and 2 were study groups dealing with basics or fundamentals of Marxism-Leninism although individuals were placed in these two groups with substantial backgrounds in Marxist-Leninist ideology.

The Civil Rights Study Group was comprised of individuals who mainly expressed interest in Marxist study of the American civil rights movement or who will be working this summer in some area generally devoted to civil rights activity or who will be doing political work in the South this summer.

The Mass Policy Study Group was comprised of individuals with backgrounds in Marxism and was more or less an advance study group.

Basic curriculum and schedule for the General Study Groups 1 and 2 and more or less the outline for the Mass Policy Study Group was as follows:

Date	Curriculum and Schedule
15th - morning	Organization and introduction
15-16th	Dialectical method
16-17th	Classes in the class struggle

2 to 3:30 PM	Individual study and reading.
7:30 to 9:30 PM	Group study. One person in each group to prepare a report to be delivered the next day at the conference. Each study group was broken up into approximately five individuals.
9 to 12 Noon	Conference.

There were basically two introductory and orientation lectures, one given by [ ] and one by [ ]. In addition there were five lectures given in the evenings beginning at 7:30 PM. The first one was on socialism, given by JAMES JACKSON. The second was on Communist ethics and morality by GUS HALL; the third on leftism and Trotskyism given by [ ]; the fourth on the left movement by [ ] and the fifth on CP history by [ ].

The schedule of instructors for General Study Group 1 was:

[ ] Organization and Introduction
Dialectical Method
Class and the Class Struggle
Capitalist Exploitation

[ ] (LNU) Imperialism and the Fight for Peace
Fight for Democracy

b7C

[ ] Anti-monopoly Struggle

[ ] National Question

[ ] Fight for Negro Freedom

[ ] Youth Question

[ ] The Party: Basic Concepts
The Party: Strategy and Tactics
The Party: Current problems of work and organization

[ ] in the organization and introduction section basically defined Marxism as a science, a scientific historical approach. That it was a science of social development and thereby it gives Communists a base for distinguishing their work from others and it acts as a basis for transformation from capitalism to socialism to Communism.

In the dialectical method section, [ ] first dealt with an explanation of materialism and a materialistic view of man and society. Two basic premises for which include: 1. that the universe consists entirely of material objects including ourselves and exist independently of ourselves; 2. that the material world is comprehensible to ourselves. He defined dialectics and the loss of change insofar as:

1. changes of quantity which eventually lead to qualitative change.
2. less complex and more complex levels of organization.
3. internal contradictions-unity of opposites.

One of [ ] basic points was that dialectical materialism is a basic tool of understanding for Communists, that it gives meaning and method to political work and that much of the succeeding lessons would be based upon a dialectical materialistic view of society, and that all theory, analysis, discussion has one ultimate end: application to political work.

b7C

In the section devoted to classes and the class struggle, [ ] explained class struggle first in terms of "unity of opposites" in everything, in the civil rights struggle, in the peace struggle, in capitalist society. The opposites in capitalist society are mainly the two opposing classes distinguished by their relationships to means of production, mainly the owner of the means of production and the workers of the means of production. Thereby one group lives off the labor of another--the exploiters and the exploited. Therefore capitalism in a class society is one based on economic exploitation.

[ ] then went on to describe the evolution of socio-economic systems to be primitive, slave and feudal society leading to the next societal development--capitalism. The next societal development being socialism and then Communism. The vehicle for capitalism's giving way to socialism is the class struggle, that in capitalist society there is a greater and greater polarization and that the class struggle enters into every aspect of capitalistic society. The capitalist wants as much a share of labor's fruit as possible for as little as possible and the worker wants as much as possible for as little work as possible.

The main aspect of class struggle are: 1. economic-leads to organization of workers - unions; 2. political fight for labor legislation, democratic rights, struggle for less exploitation and coercion; 3. ideological struggle for ideas.

This struggle in every part of capitalist society where the workers and capitalists have no common interest will be the vehicle for progress- the vehicle establishing socialism. One of [ ] main stresses was in aiding and building class consciousness in every form of political activity that the individuals in the encampment would eventually engage in, that in every movement every worker coming in contact with. This is an eventual objective, but that while working in the various movements there are especially two mistakes that must not be made: 1. getting lost in the movement and 2. getting isolated in the movement.

b7C

In the capitalist exploitation section of the curriculum [ ] covers what he describes as the economics of capitalism including commodity production, labor theory of value, exchange value, utility value, surplus value, industrial reserve army, economic cycles, etc. and a recovering of many aspects in the class struggle section. The main emphasis, however, being derived from the base of the labor theory of value and that the worker is not paid for his full day's work, that most of the work is not paid for and goes to the capitalist in the form of surplus value and that the capitalist is constantly revolutionizing the means of production in order to decrease production labor costs and increase surplus value, and therefore the proportion of a day's production increasingly goes to the capitalist and decreasingly goes to the worker. Also the capitalist through the use of the reserve industrial army-- the unemployed--forces wages even further down.

b6

The main point that [ ] emphasized was that the basic conflict in capitalist society between the two classes is a manifestation of a basic contradiction from within, that capitalism sows the seeds of its own destruction. The basic contradiction being that production is socialized but that the ownership of the means of production is not, therefore resulting in an anarchy of production. One of the most important parts of this section, however, as compared to other sections, was the application of it to the everyday struggles the individual in the encampment will encounter. Insofar as this is concerned, building class consciousness is of primary concern and in doing so it must be remembered that in discussing the working class in addition to what was already learned the working class is the revolutionary class because its interests are always in conflict with that of the capitalist class. This is a true objective condition even if the worker is subjectively not yet aware of it and that just in the everyday process of living the workers' interests contradict that of the capitalist and therefore is not in his interest to socialize the ownership of the means of production.

In fighting for socialism there is a difference between fighting for reform and fighting for revolution. But that in fighting for reform what must be shown is that value of limited gain and yet show the limitations (meaning because it is within the confines of the system) and that Communists are interested in the welfare of the people now-not reform-but with the knowledge that it has an effect on the future and that is that it builds the working class movement but at the same time the socialist revolution occurs not with the workers alone but with others seeking removal of society's evils, therefore the necessity of building coalitions with working class in order to gain strength. An example of this: coalition between workers and civil rights fighters.

[ ] (LNU) in teaching of the section on imperialism and the fight for peace concentrated on the economics of imperialism, colonialism, and neo-colonialism, continually stressing that the U.S. is a colonialist and especially a neo-colonialist power.

In the fight for democracy section, he defined and stressed the importance of the fight for democracy--that it is the fight for more say in decisions, therefore the anti-monopoly struggle. He continually stressed the importance of fighting for bourgeois democracy, democratic reform as a basis for struggle, building class consciousness, building coalitions, and eventually laying the foundation for struggle for socialism.

[ ] in the anti-monopoly struggle section stressed the same basic points as did [ ] in teaching the previous section and also attacked the idea that in capitalism there can never be a welfare state. [ ] laid continuous emphasis on the principles involved in state monopoly and related this and the whole anti-monopoly struggle to, and as an integral part of, the fight for democracy--again this being the eventual springboard to the fight for socialism.

[ ] in teaching the national question section laid emphasis on the importance of national liberation struggles around the world, that this would eventually be the turning point for the balance of power. She defined the struggles for independence as anti-colonial and anti-neo-colonial struggles and are all class struggles. Once the struggle is successful, the working class interests come into conflict with the national bourgeoisie' interests to dominate the economy. Then comes the socialist revolution.

[ ] in the section of the curriculum devoted to the fight for Negro freedom referred to the civil rights struggle as not just a Negro question but a national question, and that it was this issue that sparked a whole resurgence of youth (in struggles) across the country. [ ] singled out the most important thing in the fight for civil rights as a laying of foundations in mass struggle in Negro-labor, Negro-white unity, and in working class unity. Also [ ] in referring to these various groups and organizations involved in the civil rights struggle referred to the Du Bois Clubs as being more or less the legal arm of the CP.

[ ] in the youth question section emphasized the resurgence of youth in struggles and the need for youth in these struggles to work hand in hand with the older generation, thereby strengthening the movements and providing a continuing of struggle.

[ ] also concentrated on Democratic Youth Unity--a class concept involving the unity of all youth of working class, of unemployed, of Negro and white, of farmers, of students--of all youth against monopoly, and thereby building and strengthening Marxist analysis. [ ] stressed this is done on bread and butter issues.

b7C

In the section on The Party; Basic Concepts, [ ] described the Party as the organization of organization. The higher command the highest form of organization--the brain, that it is the integral part of the working class but it is also the vanguard. She described communists as social engineers working toward a scientific reorganization of society and communists in their work provide leadership for struggle and inspire cadre from working class.

This source was not present at the last two sessions devoted to the Party because of other responsibilities delegated to him by the encampment administration. However, in discussing the last two lectures with those who attended and because of the emphasis in common to each lecture, the basic objectives and approaches--strategy and tactics of CP work as brought out in the encampment are manifested in the following.

The means by which capitalism will give way to socialism is the class struggle which enters into every aspect of capitalistic society. The CP people acting as members of the vanguard party must work in the various struggles; work to eventually strengthen the anti-monopoly, anti-imperialist sections; work to build coalitions to strengthen the movement; work to unite all the movements into one common struggle--for socialism. In doing so the Communists must work in the struggles for bourgeois democratic reform, civil rights, peace, unions, jobs, etc. thereby fighting for reform in order to fight for revolution. All areas of struggle must be in relation to building coalitions and alliances with the working class--the only revolutionary class, the class that will help to eventually build socialism. Youth have a significant role to play in this struggle although not working as a revolutionary force in themselves.

Near the end of the two week session at the encampment, groups met according to the location in which they would work for the summer project. The group which will be working in Chicago includes: [redacted] alias [redacted] from Los Angeles; [redacted] from Philadelphia who is a student at the University of Wisconsin; [redacted] who is a student at Superior, Wisconsin; [redacted] and [redacted] all from Chicago; [redacted] from Berkeley; [redacted] (LNU) from Connecticut. The decision as to location of these individuals was made by the encampment administration on the basis of knowledge of the people and the questionnaire filled out at the beginning of the session.

Aside from the individuals assigned to the basic city areas of concentration, the individuals assigned to work in their own home areas, the individuals assigned to work in civil rights in the South, and the individuals going to the youth festival, a few other assignments were given to individuals personally as the assignment of [redacted] from California, a student at Berkeley, to work in Washington reporting on a conference taking place there during the summer.

Some of the individuals in the encampment discussed some of their past assignments, some of which included [ ] (LNU) from Radcliff working in SDS; [ ] (LNU) from California working in the Young Democrats there; [ ] working with college students and also infiltrating the John Birch Society.

b7C

Insofar as possibility for a socialist revolution and how it would come, it seemed as though the consensus of the youth attending the encampment was that the possibility of revolution by force could not be entirely ruled out. In the formal class room sessions the socialist revolution was discussed in terms almost of evolution and building coalitions and movements and gaining strength, etc. But in informal discussion the youth would raise the possibility of force, for example [ ] from Connecticut, talking in terms of the need for everybody in the encampment receiving training in guerilla warfare tactics. [ ] from Radcliff thought that the only way for the revolution to come was eventually by force. [ ] instructor at the encampment, in answering an informal question put to him by [ ] from Los Angeles about the possibility of a peaceful revolution, stated that there was no definite answer to that question.

b6

During the course of the two weeks at the encampment the administration continually stressed the need for propriety insofar as "alcohol and woman-man relations" because there were outside forces waiting to use anything they could against the encampment. However, there were numerous violations.

Near the end of the sessions the newspapers learned of the encampment's existence and some reporters were sent there for a story. In view of this, certain security precautions were taken at the encampment by the administration. The male youths were taken off other assignments at the encampment and placed on guard duty, two to a shift, at various strategic locations. Any suspicious individuals encountered were to be taken to [ ] the manager of Camp Midvale.

b7C

In addition, especially every week end when various outside groups visited the camp grounds it was directed by the administration that no questions were to be answered by anyone as to the camp, the sessions, the people or anything else, and none of the written materials were to be left unguarded or taken out of certain "safe locations."

Reading assignments for the classes were given in relation to basic Marxist-Leninist materials in the encampment. Most of these materials were given to individuals at the end of the session to take home and amounted to about $25 to $30 worth of books and pamphlets.

Ask me so many questions. But please do the F.B.I. endorse or exempt them. What is your opinion. Thank you for your time.

GOP Unit Again Hits Birch Group

Moderate Calif. Republican League Calls Society 'Repugnant'

CARL GREENBERG

Times Political Writer

SAN LUIS OBISPO — The John Birch Society was condemned Saturday by the moderate California Republican League as "a repugnant growth on the body politic" and CRL reaffirmed that it will exclude Birch-ers from its membership.

The action by the Presidents' Council of the league, formed last December, was coupled with a denunciation of "extremist political splinter groups of the left and right using the established party labels."

The chapter presidents, in their first statewide meeting, voted after CRL's president, Los Angeles attorney William P. Gray, told them:

"Party unity is extremely important. We must develop and maintain it, but if party unity requires embracing some of the screwball ideas proposed in the name of the Republican Party, that's disastrous. We must invite and attract Republicans who are non-extremists."

Formed in 1964

CRL, which now has nearly 3,000 members, was formed at the end of 1964 by Republicans disheartened by the growth and influence of right-wing elements in the GOP.

Members of the Birch Society were excluded from the outset, and CRL's membership applications specifically ask if a prospective member belongs to the Birch Society.

The resolution adopted unanimously on the Birch Society said it is a "monolithic" organization with a structure "in violation of the basic political philosophy of the United States" and asserted:

"There is no compatibility in membership of the Republican Party and the stated philosophy of the John Birch Society."

Welch Charges Cited

It also cited assertions by Robert Welch, founder-president of the Birch Society, that the civil rights act of 1964 was Communist inspired, in listing CRL's criticisms of the society.

Attempts to alter the language specifically excluding Birchers from the CRL were scored by Ed Myers, South Pasadena chapter president. He declared:

"If we insist on weasel-wording our position on the Birch Society we're going to greatly weaken our position before the voters of this state.

In its attack on the extremists, the league accused them of "irresponsible acts, statements and attacks on American traditions, institutions and loyal citizens."

These, it said, are "totally improper and reprehensible."

The Los Angeles riot came into the spotlight with a demand that Democratic Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson explain "the inordinately long delay before responding to a formal request to send the National Guard into riot-torn Los Angeles."

The council said, "The disastrous consequences of recent racial disturbances attest to the compelling need for biracial rapprochement between the Caucasians and minority communities."

"The seeds of racial hatred, discrimination and frustration, however inspired, are a continuing plague to all elements of society," the chapter presidents said.

"A unity of social legislation and private citizen involvement is necessary for expansion of minority opportunity and elimination of racial discrimination."

Endorsed Rights Act

CRL endorsed the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the 1965 Voting Rights Act and urged "vigorous" action by the Justice Department to implement them.

The council commended Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, GOP minority leader, and California's Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, assistant minority leader, for their leadership in passage of the measures.

The pat on the back for Kuchel, yet to say whether he will seek the gubernatorial nomination in 1966, was in contrast to the antagonism that has been displayed toward him at meetings of other Republican organizations where there is right-wing influence.

In other actions, CRL: 1—Charged that President Johnson's poverty program is marked by "ill-defined and unco-ordinated efforts" wide open to patronage abuses by Democratic office holders, and that the "spoils system" appears to have been revived.

2—Held that the proposed Liberty Amendment, which would repeal the federal income tax, is not in keeping with GOP principles of fiscal responsibility.

3 — Supported Mr. Johnson's decision to stay in Vietnam until "the Communist forces withdraw" and rapped "the neo-isolationism echoed by a number of prominent Democrats who would rather accept a Far-Eastern Munich than face America's obligations as a bulwark of the free world."

This resolution called for free debate of the U.S. Vietnam policy and was supported by John Ford, vice president of the Beverly Hills chapter, who served in Vietnam as a lieutenant in command of a U.S. Air Force operation. He said:

"I was commander of a unit in Vietnam and lost a lot of men. We want to know why the hell we are there and have to come back in steel boxes."

4 — Favored annual sessions of the legislature and "adequate" pay for its members, who now get $6,000 a year.

5—Urged retention of the new law giving incumbent legislators eight appointments to the GOP state central committee instead of the three they formerly had and enactment of a bill permitting each county chairman to appoint a committee member.

Cyril Stevenson, president of the conservative California Republican Assembly, is pushing an initiative to restore the old law under which incumbents could name only three committee members, the same number now allocated to party nominees.

6—Went on record in support of the pending immigration reform bill.

7 — Denounced the "mis-handling" of California's agricultural problems by the Democratic national and state administrations, and commended Sen. George Murphy (R-Calif.), for his efforts to protect the agricultural industry.

8—Charged that the 1965 legislative session under Democratic leadership was a "sorry spectacle" marked by the "floundering indecision" of Democratic Gov. Brown and his administration.

9—Proposed creation of a statewide conservation commission to pass on highway routes, major utility transmission lines and new public construction projects to protect the state's natural beauty.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, a series of telephone messages which consist of defamatory attacks upon the character and motives of many of our leaders is currently being disseminated upon the pretext of selling, and refers to The Gravediggers and The Politician as support for these charges which are wildly emotional and inflammatory, and

Whereas, We feel that this project is an extension of the activities of fanatics who twist events to their own purposes, and who look upon all recent history which does not coincide with their personal views as t reasonous plots, and

Whereas, We are concerned that no well organized, well financed conspiracy of either the right or left, which are equally dangerous to freedom, achieve ascendancy in the United States, now

Therefore Be it Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the California Federation of Republican Women condemns this false and treacherous propaganda, especially the slanderous attack upon General Dwight D. Eisenhower, and urgently request and investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation into the origin, sponsorship, and objectives of this vicious activity.

Be it Further Resolved that a copy of this Resolution, together with the transcript of the attack on General Eisenhower be sent to Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the F.B.I., to Mr. E. William Henry, Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and to Senator Everett Dirksen and Representative Gerald R. Ford, minority leaders in Congress.

AUGUST 10, 1965

ACTIVITY: Meeting of the MEXICAN COMMISSION, SOUTHERN CALIF. DISTRICT, COMMUNIST PARTY.

DATE : AUGUST 10, 1965 - 9:00pm-12:30am.

PLACE : [redacted] Los Angeles, Calif.
(Add. of [redacted])

b6
b7C

ATTENDANCE:

SOL MONROY - Chairman of the meeting.

BEN DOBBS [redacted] [redacted]

The first point on the agenda was the report on the MEXICAN-AMERICAN POLITICAL ASSOCIATION (MAPA) convention which had been held in Fresno, Calif., JULY 23/25, 1965. The report was given by [redacted]

[redacted] indicated that the two significant things that came out of the convention was, #1: the defeat of the resolution which dealt with the support of President JOHNSON's policies in Vietnam. The second thing was the picketing of the convention by the FARM WORKERS ASSOCIATION, CESAR E. CHAVEZ' organization.

[redacted] supplemented SOL's report indicating that the MEXICAN COMMISSION had made a decision not to speak for or against the resolution on Santo Domingo at the MAPA convention but he had found it necessary to speak out on the question of VIETNAM as to the relevance of the VIETNAM RESOLUTION at the MAPA convention.

b7C

BEN DOBBS spoke. He said that the tactic that had been used by [redacted] on the question of the resolution and its relevancy to the convention was a very important point. In essence, he had just had an experience in the Needle Trades where DUBINSKY (David) had come out for the JOHNSON policy and supporting the VIETNAM WAR and the COMRADES in that particular trade union had taken DUBINSKY head-on which caused a split in the Needle Trades union. Whereas, if they would have taken DUBINSKY on the question of why was it relevant for the union to take a position on Vietnam this would have made a much stronger fight. BEN DOBBS then related that MAPA is growing into an organization in which politicians throughout the state are looking at it as the political arm of the Mexican people. Also, the BIRCHERS are looking at MAPA. As a matter of fact there were several BIRCHERS in attendance at the convention, and the resolution which had been introduced on the question of Vietnam had been introduced by a person who is a known BIRCHER, [redacted] from San Jose. Another resolution which never got to the floor at the convention but which was being discussed was the question of forming REPUBLICAN MAPA CLUBS. So now it is incumbent on the COMMUNIST PARTY to commence to recruit people into MAPA so that the control of it does not go into the hands of the conservatives.

The next point on the agenda was the announcement by BEN DOBBS that [redacted] had been placed on the Police Commission in place of [redacted] although this had not been confirmed.

[ ] supplemented this by saying that although [ ] was somewhat of a liberal in his thinking he was so weak in his structure that it was impossible to do any work at all with him on the question of police brutality.

The third point on the agenda was the question of the report by the MEXICAN COMMISSION to the National convention which is to take place in 1966. It was reported that the statistics which [ ] of [ ] was gathering will be available within the next month.

BEN DOBBS then made the suggestion that there also be included in the report a special section on the question of the BRACEROS because it is not just a California question now. It has become a national question.

This was challenged by [ ] who said that the question of the BRACERO is somewhat 'passe' now and that there should be a special section on the farm worker in the area.

BEN DOBBS then reported that he had attended several meetings with the Negroes in the Watts-Compton area and other Negro organizations and there was a feeling that [ ] would run for the office of Secretary of State. BEN indicated that he felt that there should be a Mexican to run for a statewide office supported by the Negroes because the Negroes have more elective officers in the state. There are more Assemblymen and more councilmen than there are Mexicans and for the purpose of unity at this time the Negroes should support a Mexican for a statewide office.

[ ] reported that he had also heard that [ ] would be running for a statewide office, possibly Secretary of State. Also, the Republicans were commencing to work in the Mexican community to put a Mexican against a Negro democrat. Up to this point the person whom the Republicans are thinking about is [ ] a teamster and a Republican, and he would run for a statewide office on the Republican ticket.

The next point on the agenda was that [ ] indicated that he had had a long discussion with BEN DOBBS and he felt that he could not function in the leadership of the Mexican Commission. [ ] said he was lazy and also his job kept him from attending many of the BOARD meetings because he did travel on his job.

BEN DOBBS indicated that the COMRADES had a responsibility to inform [ ] what was going on in the Mexican community.

[ ] then indicated that [ ] should join the COMMUNITY SERVICE ORGANIZATION and the poverty fight to be aware of what is going on in the community and to get himself in some of the mass activity.

AUGUST 10, 1965

(Meeting: MEX.COMM-SCD-CP)

[ ] indicated that most of his mass activity has been in the Lincoln Heights area and he worked from that particular area. [ ] then related that he was on the Board of Directors of the Unitarian Church and felt that church work was very important.

BEN DOBBS disagreed with this indicating that the Unitarian Church is more of "in" group which keeps to itself and the Unitarian Church is not influencing the Mexican community on political questions and that [ ] should step down from the directorship of the Unitarian Church.

[ ] then indicated that his resigning from the directorship of the Unitarian Church would be very bad for him and also for the church.

BEN DOBBS felt that there should be further discussion on this question to see how [ ] functions on his job as head of the MEXICAN COMMISSION. Also, [ ] should conduct the meetings of the Mexican Commission to give him more opportunity on the question of leadership.

BEN DOBBS then indicated that he had 300 pamphlets, in Spanish, entitled: "FUERA la BOTA MILITAR de SANTO DOMINGO" - a translation of the pamphlet: "MARINES in SANTO DOMING" by Victor Perlo. BEN DOBBS said that these pamphlets were available free.

[ ] took twenty-five of the pamphlets to be distributed.

[ ] indicated that his club most likely would use some to do a mailing out of the club.

BEN DOBBS said that the club could afford to pay for them and sell them for 15¢ each. BEN said that these were coming into the area and he felt that the Mexican Commission should take some responsibility for their distribution in the area.

The next point on the agenda was discussed, and this was the poverty program.

BEN DOBBS indicated that it was possible to organize this large group which is functioning as the poverty group in the Mexican community into some sort of a group with militancy. It is such a loose-knit group that there isn't any organizational structure to it. They get together only when certain people want to call meetings. It would be possible to look into this question of bringing some militancy into the poverty program.

The three pieces of literature enclosed is material picked up in the march.

There will be an educational workshop at Hungarian Hall on the peace movement, FRIDAY, AUGUST 13, 1965.
